ANARCHISTS AFTER THE VANDERBILTS.

California Extremists Said to Have Planned to Kill the Whole Party.

Railroad Officials Knew of the Scheme and Took Extraordinary Precautions.

'It Was Disclosed to Them by a Letter to a San Francisco Sleuth.

The Train Passed Safely Through the State-Chauncey Depew Telegraphs That They Were in Ignorance of Any Danger.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 6.-When the Vanderbilt party crossed the State line into Nevada yesterday a sigh of relief went up from every railroad official in California. Cornelius Vanderbilt and Chauncey M. Depew were safe, escaping a supposed terrible danger, of the presence of which they had never dreamed.

From the moment they entered the State until the observation car of their train disappeared over the State line, they were shadowed by railroad officials, detectives and strong fighting men, all of whom were expecting a dynamite bomb to explode

ANARCHISTS ON THEIR TRAIL.

The fact is—and it only leaked out to-day—Mr. Vanderbilt and Dr. Depew have incurred the disapprobation of the extremist wing of the Anarchist party in California, and if the railroad offcials had not been warned in time there is no telling what would have heavened.

telling what would have happened.

The warning came through Detective Gard, an old railroad sleuth, who, while In San Francisco on March 21, had re-ceived this amazing epistle:

"Dear Major: You perhaps will be surprised when I tell you that there is big game in danger, should the Vanderbilts come to 'Frisco. I know what I am saying, ditching the train if necessary and giving battle to his body gnard, even to the killing of the whole outfit. They will need to be well protected while here in this city, as the revolutionary party here is very strong, and no man can tell with whom he is talking when accosted by a stranger. I know that dynamite is an agent on which great dependence is placed and who can mand dependence is placed, and who can guard against it when crossing trestles and heavy
